Introduction

The OPEN GOVERNMENT GUIDE is a comprehensive guide to open government law and practice in each of the 50 states and the District of Columbia. Fifty-one outlines detail the rights of reporters and other citizens to see information and attend meetings of state and local governments.

The OPEN GOVERNMENT GUIDE — previously published as Tapping Officials' Secrets — is the sole reference on open government laws in many states.

Written to follow a standard outline to allow easy comparisons between state laws, the compendium has enabled open government advocates in one state to use arguments successful in other states to enhance access rights at home. Press associations and lobbyists have been able to invoke other sunshine laws as they seek reforms in their own.

Volunteer attorneys, expert in open government laws in each state and in Washington, D.C., generously donated their time to prepare the initial outlines for the first incarnation of this project in 1989. In most states these same attorneys or their close associates updated and rewrote the outlines for the 1993, 1997, 2001 and 2006 editions as well this current 2011 edition.

Attorneys who are new to the compendium in this edition are also experts in open government and access issues, and we are grateful to them for their willingness to share in this ongoing project to create the first and only detailed treatise on state open government law. The rich knowledge and experience all the participating attorneys bring to this project make it a success.

While most of the initial users of this compendium were journalists, we know that lawyers and citizens have discovered it and find it to be indispensable as well.

At its core, participatory democracy decries locked files and closed doors. Good citizens study their governors, challenge the decisions they make and petition or vote for change when change is needed. But no citizen can carry out these responsibilities when government is secret.

Assurances of open government exist in the common law, in the first state laws after colonization, in territorial laws in the west and even in state constitutions. All states have passed laws requiring openness, often in direct response to the scandals spawned by government secrecy. The U.S. Congress strengthened the federal Freedom of Information Act after Watergate, and many states followed suit.

States with traditionally strong access laws include Vermont, which provides virtually unfettered access on many levels; Florida, which was one of the first states to enact a sunshine law; and Ohio, whose courts have issued several access-friendly rulings. Other jurisdictions, such as Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia, have made significant changes to their respective open government laws since the fifth edition was published designed to foster greater public access to information. Historically, Pennsylvania had a reputation as being relatively non-transparent while the District of Columbia was known to have a very restrictive open meetings law.

Some public officials in state and local governments work hard to achieve and enforce open government laws. The movement toward state freedom of information compliance officers reflects a growing activism for access to information in the states.

But such official disposition toward openness is exceptional. Hardly a day goes by when we don’t hear that a state or local government is trying to restrict access to records that have traditionally been public — usually because it is feared release of the records will violate someone’s “privacy” or threaten our nation’s security.

It is in this climate of tension between broad democratic mandates for openness and official preference for secrecy that reporters and good citizens need to garner their resources to ensure the passage and success of open government laws.

The Reporters Committee genuinely hopes that the OPEN GOVERNMENT GUIDE will help a vigorous press and citizenry to shape and achieve demands for openness, and that it will serve as a primer for those who battle in government offices and in the courts for access to records and meetings. When challenges to secrecy are successful, the news is better and so is the government.
User’s Guide

Whether you are using a guide from one state to find a specific answer to an access issue, or the complete compendium encompassing all states to survey approaches to a particular aspect of open government law around the country, knowing a few basics on how the OPEN GOVERNMENT GUIDE is set up will help you to get the most out of it.

Following the outline. Every state section is based on the same standard outline. The outline is divided into two parts: access to records and access to meetings.

Start by reviewing the table of contents for each state. It includes the first two tiers of that state’s outline. Once you are familiar with the structure of the outline, finding specific information is simple. Typically, the outline begins by describing the general structure of the state law, then provides detailed topical listings explaining access policies for specific kinds of records or meetings.

Every state outline follows the standard outline, but there will be some variations. Some contributors added items within the outline, or omitted subpoints found in the complete outline which were not relevant to that state’s law. Each change was made to fit the needs of a particular state’s laws and practices.

In general, outline points that appear in boldface type are part of the standard outline, while additional topics will appear in italicized type.

Whether you are using one state outline or any number of outlines, we think you will find the outline form helpful in finding specific information quickly without having to read an entire statute or search through many court cases. But when you do need to consult statutes, you will find the complete text of the relevant portions at the end of each outline.

Additional copies of individual state booklets, or of the compendium covering the 50 states and the District of Columbia, can be ordered from The Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, 1101 Wilson Blvd., Suite 1100, Arlington, Virginia 22209, or by calling (703) 807-2100. The compendium is available in electronic format on CD.

The state outlines also are available on our World-Wide Web site, www.rcfp.org/ogg. The Internet version of the outlines allows you to search the database and compare the law in different states.

Updates: The Reporters Committee published new editions of THE OPEN GOVERNMENT GUIDE in 1989, 1993, 1997, 2001, 2006, and now in 2011. We expect future updates to follow on approximately the same schedule. If we become aware of mistakes or material omissions in this work, we will post notices on this project’s page on our World-Wide Web site, at www.rcfp.org/ogg. This does not mean that the outlines will constantly be updated on the site — it simply means known errors will be corrected there.

For our many readers who are not lawyers: This book is designed to help journalists, lawyers, and citizens understand and use state open records and meetings law. Although the guides were written by lawyers, they are designed to be useful to and readable by nonlawyers as well. However, some of the elements of legal writing may be unfamiliar to lay readers. A quick overview of some of these customs should suffice to help you over any hurdles.

Lawyers are trained to give a “legal citation” for most statements of law. The name of a court case or number of a statute may therefore be tacked on to the end of a sentence. This may look like a sentence fragment, or may leave you wondering if some information about that case was omitted. Nothing was left out; inclusion of a legal citation provides a reference to the case or statute supporting the statement and provides a shorthand method of identifying that authority, should you need to locate it.

Legal citation form also indicates where the law can be found in official reporters or other legal digests. Typically, a cite to a court case will be followed by the volume and page numbers of a legal reporter. Most state cases will be found in the state reporter, a larger regional reporter, or both. A case cite reading 123 A.2d 456 means the case could be found in the Atlantic (regional) reporter, second series, volume 123, starting at page 456.

Note that the complete citation for a case is often given only once. We have tried to eliminate as many cryptic second-reference cites as possible, but you may encounter cites like “Jackson at 321.” This means that the author is referring you to page 321 of a case cited earlier that includes the name Jackson. Authors may also use the words supra or infra to refer to a discussion of a case appearing earlier or later in the outline, respectively.

Except for these legal citation forms, most “legalese” has been avoided. We hope this will make this guide more accessible to everyone.
The General Assembly has mandated that the Act be “liberally construed to promote an increased awareness by all persons of governmental activities and afford every opportunity to citizens to witness the operations of government.” Moreover, the Act’s exemptions are to “be narrowly construed in order that no thing which should be public may be hidden from any person.”

These rules of construction are consistently acknowledged by the courts, but not always applied with full vigor. Virginia courts often appear reluctant to provide a remedy under the Act unless there is a substantial and willful violation of its provisions. However, where such evidence exists, the courts have shown their willingness to penalize those who attempt to deny to the public the information that they have a right to know.

Opinions of the Attorney General of Virginia do not bind the Virginia courts, but are persuasive authority. They are occasionally, but not comprehensively, cited in this outline because they are frequently relied upon by public bodies subject to the Act. In addition, a growing body of opinions has been issued by the Virginia Freedom of Information Advisory Council, created by the General Assembly in 2000, to act as a source of both formal and informal advice for citizens, including public officials and press representatives. To date, the opinions of the Council, which are not binding on the courts, have shown a tendency toward the “middle of the road” rather than an aggressive pro-access bias. They are available online, and are not cited in this outline. However, anyone researching an issue under the Act is well-served to search both Attorney General and Advisory Council opinions for relevant discussion of these statutes.

I. STATUTE -- BASIC APPLICATION

A. Who can request records?

   a. Citizens of the Commonwealth: Any citizen of the Commonwealth may inspect records during the regular business hours of the custodian of records. A citizen is defined elsewhere in the Code of Virginia as one born in the Commonwealth who has not in good faith become a citizen of another state or one born in another state of this Union or an alien naturalized under the laws of the United States who may be or become a resident of the Commonwealth. Previously found in Va. Code Ann. § 1-18 and 1-20 (Repealed). Nothing in the Freedom of Information Act (“the Act”) prohibits a citizen from making a request on behalf of a non-citizen, as the requester is not required to explain or otherwise justify the request. The custodian may require the requester to provide his name and legal address. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(A).

2. Purpose of request.

   a. Purpose and Motivation: The purpose or motivation behind a request is irrelevant to a citizen’s entitlement to requested information. See Associated Tax Service v. Fitzpatrick, 236 Va. 181, 372 S.E.2d 625 (1988).

   b. Reasonable Specificity Required: The Act provides that the request shall designate the requested documents with reasonable specificity. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(B).

3. Use of records.

   a. No Restriction on Use: The Act does not restrict the use of the information obtained.

   b. Commercial Purposes: A request under the Act is not automatically invalid because it was made for a purpose other than to monitor government operations. It is permissible for a citizen to secure information under the Act for commercial purposes. See Associated Tax Service v. Fitzpatrick, 236 Va. 181, 372 S.E.2d 625 (1988).

B. Whose records are and are not subject to the Act?

1. Executive branch.

   a. Records of the executives themselves.

   Working papers and correspondence prepared by or for the following are exempted from disclosure: Office of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General; the mayor or other chief executive office of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth; and the president or chief executive officer of any public institution of higher education. See Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3705.7(2); see also Taylor v. Worrell Enterprises, 242 Va. 219, 409 S.E.2d 136 (1991) (holding that an itemized list of long distance calls placed by the Governor’s office falls

FOREWORD

The Virginia General Assembly enacted the Freedom of Information Act (“the Act”) in 1968. Through this Act, the legislature sought to secure to the Commonwealth’s citizens access to public records and meetings not specifically exempted by law.

The Act has undergone numerous revisions. Some amendments have strengthened the Act by authorizing the award of civil penalties and attorneys’ fees for non-compliance, or by shifting the burden to prove the applicability of exclusions onto the public body. Other amendments, particularly the Act’s steadily growing list of discretionary exclusions have narrowed its effectiveness. Finally, some amendments, particularly those relating to electronic meetings and records, have responded to technological changes in the way that information is recorded, processed and delivered.

The General Assembly has mandated that the Act be “liberally construed to promote an increased awareness by all persons of governmental activities and afford every opportunity to citizens to witness the operations of government.” Moreover, the Act’s exemptions are to “be narrowly construed in order that no thing which should be public may be hidden from any person.”

These rules of construction are consistently acknowledged by the courts, but not always applied with full vigor. Virginia courts often appear reluctant to provide a remedy under the Act unless there is a substantial and willful violation of its provisions. However, where such evidence exists, the courts have shown their willingness to penalize those who attempt to deny to the public the information that they have a right to know.

Opinions of the Attorney General of Virginia do not bind the Virginia courts, but are persuasive authority. They are occasionally, but not comprehensively, cited in this outline because they are frequently relied upon by public bodies subject to the Act. In addition, a growing body of opinions has been issued by the Virginia Freedom of Information Advisory Council, created by the General Assembly in 2000, to act as a source of both formal and informal advice for citizens, including public officials and press representatives. Open Records

A. Who can request records?

   a. Citizens of the Commonwealth: Any citizen of the Commonwealth may inspect records during the regular business hours of the custodian of records. A citizen is defined elsewhere in the Code of Virginia as one born in the Commonwealth who has not in good faith become a citizen of another state or one born in another state of this Union or an alien naturalized under the laws of the United States who may be or become a resident of the Commonwealth. Previously found in Va. Code Ann. § 1-18 and 1-20 (Repealed). Nothing in the Freedom of Information Act (“the Act”) prohibits a citizen from making a request on behalf of a non-citizen, as the requester is not required to explain or otherwise justify the request. The custodian may require the requester to provide his name and legal address. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(A).

2. Purpose of request.

   a. Purpose and Motivation: The purpose or motivation behind a request is irrelevant to a citizen’s entitlement to requested information. See Associated Tax Service v. Fitzpatrick, 236 Va. 181, 372 S.E.2d 625 (1988).

   b. Reasonable Specificity Required: The Act provides that the request shall designate the requested documents with reasonable specificity. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(B).

3. Use of records.

   a. No Restriction on Use: The Act does not restrict the use of the information obtained.

   b. Commercial Purposes: A request under the Act is not automatically invalid because it was made for a purpose other than to monitor government operations. It is permissible for a citizen to secure information under the Act for commercial purposes. See Associated Tax Service v. Fitzpatrick, 236 Va. 181, 372 S.E.2d 625 (1988).

B. Whose records are and are not subject to the Act?

1. Executive branch.

   a. Records of the executives themselves.

   Working papers and correspondence prepared by or for the following are exempted from disclosure: Office of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General; the mayor or other chief executive office of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth; and the president or chief executive officer of any public institution of higher education. See Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3705.7(2); see also Taylor v. Worrell Enterprises, 242 Va. 219, 409 S.E.2d 136 (1991) (holding that an itemized list of long distance calls placed by the Governor’s office falls within the working papers exemption). No record that is otherwise open to inspection shall be deemed exempt by virtue of the fact that it has been attached to or incorporated within any working paper or correspondence. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3705.7(2).

b. Records of certain but not all functions.

“Working papers” are defined functionally as records prepared by or for a public official for his personal or deliberative use. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3705.7(2).

2. Legislative bodies.

Working papers and correspondence prepared by or for members of the General Assembly or the Division of Legislative Services are exempted from disclosure. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3705.7(2).

3. Courts.

Reports and court documents concerning involuntary admissions that are required to be kept confidential pursuant to Va. Code Ann. § 37.2-818 are excluded. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3705.5(6).

4. Nongovernmental bodies.

a. Bodies receiving public funds or benefits.

The Act defines “public body” to include “organizations, corporations or agencies in the Commonwealth supported wholly or principally by public funds.” Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701. Whether an entity is supported “principally” by public funds is a question of fact. Wigand v. Wilkes, 65 Va. Cir. 437, 438 (Norfolk Cir. Ct. 2004). Non-governmental organizations, corporations and agencies that are not supported principally by public funds are not “public bodies” under the Act, and, thus are not subject to its disclosure requirements. 1995 Va. Op. Atty Gen. 4 (January 9, 1995)(The General Assembly did not intend for the Act to apply to a private corporation receiving public funds to pay for property, goods, or services it provides, when that corporation is not supported wholly or principally by public funds.).

b. Bodies whose members include governmental officials.

The presence of a government official on the governing body of an entity does not make the entity a public body. The body must meet the statutory definition, or be performing a delegated function of a public body as discussed below.

5. Multi-state or regional bodies.

Such bodies are not statutorily exempt from the Act. A circuit court has held that the Act applies to a county Industrial Development Authority. Lee Jackson Motel Inc., et al v. Industrial Development Authority, 4 Va. Cir. 125 (Frederick Cir. Ct. 1983).

6. Advisory boards and commissions, quasi-governmental entities.

The Act applies to any committee or subcommittee, or other entity however designated, of the public body created to perform delegated functions of the public body or to advise the public body. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701. The presence of private sector or citizen members on such a body does not excuse the body from application of the Act.

7. Others.

Among other groups excluded from disclosure under the Act are (i) Parole Boards (Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3703(A)(1)), (ii) The Virginia State Crime Commission (Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3703(A)(4), and (iii) family assessment and planning teams established pursuant to § 2.2-5207 (§ 2.2-3703(A)(3)).

C. What records are and are not subject to the act?

Consultant reports. Nonexempt portions of a report of a consultant hired by or at the request of a local public body or the mayor or chief executive or administrative officer of such public body are subject to the Act if (i) the contents of such report have been distributed or disclosed to members of the local public body or (ii) the local public body has scheduled any action on a matter that is the subject of the consultant’s report. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3705.8(B).

Settlements by the Commonwealth. No settlement of a civil action against the Commonwealth involving money damages may be made subject to a confidentiality agreement prohibiting the disclosure of the settlement amount except where required by law or imposed by a court. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-514.

Judicial Inquiry. Any evidence of alleged misconduct concerning a judge who is up for election or reelection that is transmitted to the House and Senate Committees for Courts of Justice or to any member of the General Assembly loses its confidential character. Va. Code Ann. § 17.1-918(B).

1. What kind of records are covered?

a. General Definition of Records: “Public records” subject to the Act are defined as “all writings and recordings that consist of letters, words or numbers, or their equivalent, set down by handwriting, typewriting, printing, photostatting, photography, magnetic impulse, optical or magneto-optical form, mechanical or electronic recording or other form of data compilation, however stored, and regardless of physical form or characteristics, prepared or owned by, or in the possession of a public body or its officers, employees or agents in the transaction of public business.” Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701.

b. Existing Records: The Act applies only to records in existence and in custody of the public body at the time the request for official records is received. 1991 Va. Atty. Gen. 13 (June 21, 1991). The Act does not require that a public body create or prepare a particular record if it does not already exist. See Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(D); see also Hale v. Washington, 241 Va. 76, 400 S.E.2d 175 (1991); National Rural Utilities Cooperative Finance Corporation v. Greenleif, 27 Va. Cir. 140 (1992). However, the public body may summarize or abstract the information under terms agreed upon by the requester and the public body. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(D).

2. What physical form of records are covered?

All physical forms of records are covered.

3. Are certain records available for inspection but not copying?

There is no distinction with respect to what may be copied and what may be inspected. The Act provides that “all public records shall be open to inspection and copying.” Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(A).

D. Fee provisions or practices.

1. Levels or limitations on fees.

Fees Limited to Cost: Charges for time expended in accessing, duplicating, supplying or searching records may not exceed actual cost

Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(G); see also 1989 Va. Op. Atty Gen. 12 (February 21, 1989)(Town may not charge newspaper reporter for the salary of town employee whose sole function for the time charged was to watch the reporter as he inspected the minutes of the town council.). Estimates: An advance cost estimate must be provided if requested by the citizen. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(F).

2. Particular fee specifications or provisions.

Not specified.

There are no provisions to waive fees, but in practice fees frequently are not imposed for small requests.

4. Requirements or prohibitions regarding advance payment.

If the public body determines in advance that search and copying charges are likely to exceed $200.00, the public body may require the citizen to pay, before processing the request, an amount not to exceed the amount of the advance determination. The deposit shall be credited toward the final cost of supplying the records. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(H). Before processing a request for records, a public body may require the requester to pay any amounts owed to the public body for previous requests for records that remain unpaid 30 days or more after billing. 5. Have agencies imposed prohibitive fees to discourage requesters?

Any person, including the attorney for the Commonwealth acting in his official or individual capacity, denied the rights and privileges conferred by this chapter may proceed to enforce such rights and privileges by filing a petition for mandamus or injunction. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(A).

1. Attorney General's role.

2. Availability of an ombudsman.

a. General or specific?

Specific. There are one hundred (100) specific exemptions provided for in the Act. Va. Code Ann. §§ 2.2-3705.1 to -3705.7. All exemptions are to “be narrowly construed” so as to not “discourage the free discussion by government officials or employees of public matters with the citizens of the Commonwealth.” Va. 2. Police blotter.

“Criminal incident information” for felony offenses, including a description of the criminal activity reported, the date and general location of the alleged crime, the identity of the investigating officer, and general description of the injuries, must be released upon request unless the release is likely to jeopardize an ongoing investigation or prosecution, or the safety of an individual, or result in the destruction of evidence, or could cause a suspect to flee. 3. Transactions.

4. Infectious disease and health epidemics.

Patient level data that is collected for health purposes will be exempt from the Act and publicly released data must be a format so to ensure patients cannot be identified. Va. Code Ann. § 32.1-276.9.

V. PROCEDURE FOR OBTAINING RECORDS

A. How to start.

All state public bodies created in the executive branch of state government and subject to the provisions of the VFOIA must provide to the public upon request: (1) an explanation of the rights of a requester, the procedures to obtain public records from the public body, and the responsibilities of the public body in complying with the VFOIA; (2) contact information for the person designated by the public body to assist a requester in making a request or to respond to requests; and (3) a general description of the types of records maintained by that public body; (4) a general description of any exemptions in the law that permit or require records to be withheld from release; and (5) any policy the public body has concerning the type of public records it routinely withholds from release as permitted by the VFOIA. In addition, that information must also be posted on the Internet. Virginia Code § 2.2-3704.1(A).

1. Who receives a request?

The request should be directed to the agency that is the custodian of the records that are being sought.

The Governor is not the custodian of records for each and every public body in the Commonwealth. Davis v. Allen, 44 Va. Cir. 237 (1997).

2. Does the law cover oral requests?

Yes, the Act does not mandate that the request be written. It is advisable, however, that the request be written if the requester anticipates a need to enforce his or her rights under the Act.

a. Arrangements to inspect & copy.

Requests for records must identify the requested records with reasonable specificity. The requester need not make reference to the act. The public body shall reply within five (5) working days. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(B). All public records shall be open to inspection and copying during regular business hours of the custodian of such records. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(A). The public body may make reasonable charges for the actual cost of duplicating the records. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(F).

b. If an oral request is denied:

The act does not distinguish oral from written requests. The requester may pursue the remedies outlined in the Act upon denial. See Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3714. If litigation is contemplated, it is wise to resubmit the request in writing. In the interest of establishing an unambiguous record, written follow up to a denied oral request is recommended.

3. Contents of a written request.

a. Description of the records.

The Act requires that the request shall identify the requested records with reasonable specificity. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(B). Fishing expeditions will not be allowed.

b. Need to address fee issues.

The Act does not require that fees be mentioned in the request. However, if requesting an estimate for search and copying charges, it is best to put it in writing. If the requester asks for an estimate, one must be provided. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(F).

If a public body determines in advance that charges for producing the requested records are likely to exceed $200, the public body may, before continuing to process the request, require the requester to agree to payment of a deposit not to exceed the amount of the advance determination. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(H).

c. Plea for quick response.

Not addressed.

d. Can the request be for future records?

Not addressed, but it is likely that a court would find it implicit that the Act does not contemplate requests for records that are generated at a future date.

e. Other.

B. How long to wait.

Five Day Initial Response: The custodian must provide an initial response within five working days of receipt of the request, informing the requester of one of the following:

The requested records will be provided. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(B).

All of the requested records are exempt from disclosure. A written explanation must be provided explaining why the records are unavailable, making specific reference to the relevant code provision. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(B)(1).

The requested records that are not exempt will be provided. A written explanation must be provided explaining why some records are being withheld and must name the specific code section authorizing the exemption. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(B)(2).

The requested records could not be found or do not exist. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(B)(3).

It is practically impossible to provide the requested documents or to determine whether they are available within the five working days prescribed and, therefore, the custodian shall have an additional seven (7) working days to provide one of the three aforementioned responses. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(B)(4).

Responding with an answer not found in the Act does not constitute a response for the Act’s purposes. Fenter v. Norfolk Airport Authority, 274 Va. 524 (2007)(informing the requester that the request has been sent to a federal authority is insufficient).

Additional Time to Respond: The custodian may obtain an additional seven (7) days pursuant to § 2.2-3704(B)(4) as long as he provides an initial response within five days. The custodian also may petition the appropriate court for additional time if there is an extraordinary volume of records requested and a response within the time limit will prevent the public body from meeting its operational responsibilities. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(C).
1. Statutory, regulatory or court-set time limits for agency response.

Not addressed.

2. Informal telephone inquiry as to status.

Not addressed, but not prohibited.

3. Is delay recognized as a denial for appeal purposes?

A failure to respond to a request shall be deemed a denial and constitute a violation of the Act. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3704(E).

4. Any other recourse to encourage a response.

Not addressed.

C. Administrative appeal.

The Act has no provision for an administrative appeal. Informal appeals to a public body’s chief executive officer or attorney are encouraged.

2. To whom is an appeal directed?

D. Court action.

1. Who may sue?

Any citizen of the Commonwealth, including the Commonwealth’s Attorney, who has been denied the rights and privileges under the Act. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(A)

2. Priority.

Suits to enforce the provisions of the Act must be heard within seven days of filing. However, if the court is not in its regular term, the hearing must be given precedence over all other cases which are not otherwise given precedence. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(C).

3. Pro se.

The Act does not require that a requester to be represented by an attorney. It has been held that a person who appears pro se cannot receive attorney fees for a suit to enforce the Act; however, he may recover court costs. Fiscella v. AREA, 50 Va. Cir. 102 (1999). The Act overrides Virginia’s general ethical prohibition on the appearance of a corporate party without counsel. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(B).

4. Issues the court will address:

In accordance with a greater weight of the evidence standard, the Court will generally determine whether the public body has violated the Act by either failing to timely respond to the request or improperly withholding records which are not exempted by the Act. See RF&P Corp. v. Little, 247 Va. 309, 440 S.E.2d 908 (1994) (standard of proof). The public body bears the burden to prove its entitlement to an exception by a preponderance of the evidence. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(E).

“A citizen alleging violation of the rights and privileges afforded by the FOIA and seeking relief by mandamus pursuant to Code § 2.2-3713(A) is not required to prove a lack of an adequate remedy at law, nor can the mandamus proceeding be barred on the ground that there may be some other remedy at law available.” Cartwright v. Commonwealth Transportation Commissioner, 270 Va. 58, 613 S.E.2d 449 (2005).

Request For Injunctive Relief: The Court will determine whether the violation was willful, knowing, and substantial. Injunction will not be granted where the procedural violation of the Act is minor and unintended. Shenandoah Publishing House Inc. v. Winchester City Council, 37 Va. Cir. 149 (1994).

Entitlement to Fees: Where the petitioner has substantially prevailed on the merits of the case, attorneys’ fees and reasonable costs shall be awarded, unless special circumstances make such an award unjust. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(D). See Redinger v. Casteen, 36 Va. Cir. 479 (1995).

Imposition of Penalties: The Court will determine whether there has been a willful and knowing violation of the Act. If so, a civil penalty will be imposed, as well as possibly a writ of mandamus or injunctive relief. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3714. RF&P Corporation v. Little, 247 Va. 309, 440 S.E.2d 908 (1994). Penalties will not be assessed where there is a technical violation of the Act. Mannix v. Washington County Board of Supervisors, 27 Va. Cir. 397 (1992).

5. Pleading format.

No special pleading format is required that would not be used in a petition for mandamus or for injunctive relief.

6. Time limit for filing suit.

Suit should be filed without unreasonable delay.

7. What court.

Suits brought to enforce the provisions of this Act shall be filed in the general district court or the circuit court of the county or city from which the public body has been elected or appointed and in which the denial of rights occurred. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(A). Suits against the state may be brought at the place of the aggrieved party’s residence or in the City of Richmond. Id.

8. Judicial remedies available.

The primary remedies are a writ of mandamus or an injunction. The former compels compliance with the Act and the latter prohibits noncompliance. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(A). If court finds that the violations were willfully and knowingly made the court will access a civil penalty. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3714.

9. Litigation expenses.

a. Attorney fees.

Attorney’s fees can be awarded where the petitioner substantially prevails and where there are no special circumstances making the award unjust. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(D).

b. Court and litigation costs.

Costs and fees can be awarded where the petitioner substantially prevails and where there are no special circumstances making the award unjust. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(D).

10. Fines.

If the Court finds that the violation was willfully and knowingly made, it will impose upon the member of the public body, in his individual capacity, a civil penalty not less than $250.00 and not more than $1,000.00. The penalty for the second violation shall not be less than $1,000.00 nor more than $2,500.00. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3714.

11. Other penalties.

In light of a requester’s repeated filings in the courts over the same matters that repeatedly had been rejected (over five times), the court granted sanctions in the amount of $1,500, and costs and fees, but refused to prohibit future filings because the next petition might not be frivolous. Davis v. Allen, 44 Va. Cir. 237, 243 (1997).

12. Settlement, pros and cons.

Settlement of disputes under the Act, like settlement of other disputes, is encouraged. Settlement should be without prejudice to future assertions of rights under the Act.

E. Appealing initial court decisions.

1. Appeal routes.

A suit brought in General District Court may be appealed to Circuit Court for a de novo hearing. Appeals from Circuit Court are to the Virginia Supreme Court.
2. Time limits for filing appeals.

Appeals from General District Court to Circuit Court must be taken within ten days of judgment. Va. Code Ann. § 16.1-106. Notice of appeal to the Supreme Court from Circuit Court must be filed within 30 days of final judgment. Va. Supreme Court Rule 5:17.

3. Contact of interested amici.

The Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press often files amicus briefs in cases involving significant media law issues before a state’s highest court.

F. Addressing government suits against disclosure.

This issue has not arisen in Virginia. The organizations above are contact points should such a situation arise.

Open Meetings

I. STATUTE -- BASIC APPLICATION.

A. Who may attend?

All meetings shall be open to the public unless the topic of discussion at such meetings falls within one of the enumerated exemptions in § 2.2-3707 or § 2.2-3711(A) and the requisite closure procedures for exempted meetings are followed pursuant to § 2.2-3712.

B. What governments are subject to the law?

The Act applies to all public bodies, defined as “any legislative body, authority, board, bureau, commission, district or agency of the Commonwealth or of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth, including cities, towns and counties; municipal councils, governing bodies of counties, school boards and planning commissions; boards of visitors of public institutions of higher education; and other organizations, corporations or agencies in the Commonwealth supported wholly or principally by public funds.” Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701.

C. What bodies are covered by the law?

1. Executive branch agencies.

The Act applies to all public bodies.

2. Legislative bodies.

3. Courts.

Access to courts is governed by other Virginia statutes and case law. Court proceedings are presumed open under case law interpreting the Constitutions of the United States and Virginia.

4. Nongovernmental bodies receiving public funds or benefits.

Organizations, corporations and agencies that are not supported wholly or principally by public funds are exempted from the requirements of the Act. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701.

5. Nongovernmental groups whose members include governmental officials.

“Public body” includes “any committee, subcommittee, or other entity however designated, of the public body created to perform delegated functions of the public body or to advise the public body. It shall not exclude any such committee, subcommittee or entity because it has private sector of citizen members.” Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701.

6. Multi-state or regional bodies.

These bodies are not statutorily exempt from the Act. A circuit court has held that the Act applies to an Industrial Development Authority. Lee Jackson Motel Inc. v. Industrial Development Authority, 4 Va. Cir. 125 (1983).

7. Advisory boards and commissions, quasi-governmental entities.

See subsection 5 above. It has also been held that certain citizen advisory boards are exempt from the Act. To qualify for the exemption, the committee (1) must not have been created by a public body, rather than by a member of the body; (2) must not perform a function delegated to it by the public body; (3) does not advise a public body; and (4) must not receive any public funds, including reimbursement for expenses. 1979 Va. Op. Atty. Gen. 316 (April 3, 1979).

8. Other bodies to which governmental or public functions are delegated.

See subsection 5 above.
9. Appointed as well as elected bodies.

Elected as well as appointed bodies are subject to the Act.

D. What constitutes a meeting subject to the law.

“Meetings” is defined as “the meetings including work sessions, when sitting physically, or through telephonic or video equipment pursuant to § 2.2-3708 or 2.2-3708.1, as a body or entity, or as an informal assemblage of (i) as many as three members, or (ii) a quorum, if less than three, of the constituent membership . . . of any public body.” Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701.

Members-elect do not count toward the number necessary to constitute a meeting under the VFOIA. See Beck v. Shelton, 267 Va. 482, 488, 593 S.E.2d 195, 198 (2004).

1. Number that must be present.

See above.

2. Nature of business subject to the law.

The Act applies if the public body’s business will be discussed or transacted in any way. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701.

a. “Information gathering” and “fact-finding” sessions.

Work sessions are defined as meetings by § 2.2-3701. However, a court opinion suggests that “information gathering” sessions are not meetings within the scope of this section. Nageotte v. Board of Supervisors, 223 Va. 259, 269, 288 S.E.2d 423 (1982); but see Little v. Virginia Retirement Sys., 28 Va. Cir. 411, 433 (Va. Cir. Ct. 1992) (“Unlike a meeting between two separate and distinct entities, with separate and distinct areas of responsibility, a meeting involving two inextricably linked entities cannot be said to involve the business of only one of those entities.”).

Public Gatherings: Where two city employees and three members of City Council were separately invited to a gathering at a street intersection to raise awareness over traffic concerns, no meeting within the meaning of the VFOIA took place. Beck v. Shelton, 267 Va. 482, 493-94, 593 S.E.2d 195, 200-01 (2004).

b. Deliberations toward decisions.

A meeting held to discuss or transact public business is still a meeting within the meaning of the Act even where no votes are taken or decisions made. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701.

Non-Public Business: A meeting of Board of Supervisors to discuss communication and decision making skills is not a meeting subject to the provisions of this section. WDBJ Television Inc. v. Roanoke County Supervisors, 4 Va. Cir. 349 (1985).

3. Electronic meetings.

Local public bodies are prohibited from meeting via electronic, telephonic, or video communications. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3708(A) (nevertheless, such communications means may be employed to expand public participation).

No regular, special, or reconvened session of the General Assembly held pursuant to Article IV, Section 6 of the Constitution of Virginia shall be conducted using electronic communication means pursuant § 2.2-3708. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3707.01(D).

a. Conference calls and video/Internet conferencing.

State public bodies may conduct any meeting to discuss or transact public business through electronic communication means. Where a quorum of a public body of the Commonwealth is physically assembled at one location for the purpose of conducting a meeting authorized under this section, additional members of such public body may participate in the meeting through electronic communication means provided such participation is available to the public. If a public body holds an electronic meeting pursuant to this section, the public body shall also hold at least one meeting annually where members in attendance at the meeting are physically assembled at one location and where no members participate by electronic communication means. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3708(B).

b. E-mail.

E-mail communications are included within the Act’s definition of “public records.” Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3701. For purposes of electronic meetings, electronic communication means only includes any audio or combined audio and visual communication method. Therefore, e-mail would not be an appropriate medium for conducting a meeting. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3708(B); see also Beck v. Shelton, 267 Va. 482, 492, 593 S.E.2d 195, 200 (2004) (determining that e-mail communications at issue did not constitute a “meeting” under FOIA).

c. Text messages.

See E-mail section.

d. Instant messaging.

See E-mail section.

e. Social media and online discussion boards.

See E-mail section.

E. Categories of meetings subject to the law.

1. Regular meetings.

1. Does the law provide expedited procedure for reviewing request to attend upcoming meetings?

No.

2. When barred from attending.

The individual may petition the court for a writ of mandamus pursuant to the Act’s enforcement provisions. § 2.2-3713.

3. To set aside decision.

The individual may bring a bill of complaint to set aside the public body’s decision in accordance with the Act’s enforcement provisions. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713. Note, while it appears that if there was a substantial violation of the Act, the Virginia Supreme Court would set the public body’s decision aside, they appear to do so reluctantly. They state “[u]nless there is a specific statutory provision for invalidation, courts are generally wary of imposing such a penalty for violation of ‘open meeting’ or ‘right to know’ statutes.” Nagotte v. King George County, 223 Va. 259, 267 n.2, 288 S.E.2d 423, 427 n.2 (1982).

4. For ruling on future meetings.

The individual may petition the court for injunctive relief in accordance with the Act’s enforcement provisions. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713. Note that the court will not award injunctive relief where the violations are not willful and substantial. Nagotte v. King George County, 223 Va. 259, 269-70 (1982).

B. How to start.

In accordance with the provisions of Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713, an aggrieved individual may petition the court for a writ of mandamus or an injunction for alleged violations of the Act.

There are no administrative appeals provided for under the Act.

1. Where to ask for ruling.

a. Administrative forum.

C. Court review of administrative decision.

1. Who may sue?

Any citizen of the Commonwealth, including the Commonwealth’s Attorney, who has been denied the rights and privileges under the Act. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(A).

2. Will the court give priority to the pleading?

Suites to enforce the provisions of the Act must be heard within seven (7) days of filing. However, if the court is not in its regular term, the hearing must be given precedence over all other cases which are not otherwise given precedence. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(C).

3. Pro se possibility, advisability.

The Act does not require that a natural person be represented by an attorney. In general district court, Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(B) relaxes the general rule of Virginia law that a corporate entity must be represented by an attorney. Generally, assistance of counsel is advisable.

4. What issues will the court address?

Entitlement to Fees: Where it has been proven that the petitioner substantially has prevailed in showing that there has been a violation of the Act, the Court then must determine whether there are special circumstances making an award of attorneys’ fees unjust. Hale v. Washington County Sch. Bd., 241 Va. 76, 82, 400 S.E.2d 175, 178 (1991). See also Redinger v. Casteen, 36 Va. Cir. 479 (1995) (awarding fees).

Imposition of Penalties: The Court will determine whether there has been a willful violation of the Act. Penalties will not be assessed where there is a technical violation of the Act. Mannix v. Washington County Board of Supervisors, 27 Va. Cir. 397 (1992).

a. Open the meeting.

Although mandamus and injunctive relief are available, this remedy often is not available given that closure of a meeting has already taken place.

b. Invalidate the decision.

Not addressed.

c. Order future meetings open.

The Court only will restrain a governing body from closing future meetings where there is evidence that there was a willful and substantial violation, and that the violation will likely occur again. Nagotte v. King George County, 223 Va. 259, 269-70, 288 S.E.2d 423, 428 (1982).

5. Pleading format.

Suits for injunctive relief or for a writ of mandamus are equitable remedies, and thus, a suit in equity is appropriate.

6. Time limit for filing suit.

Suit should be filed without unreasonable delay.

7. What court.

Suits brought to enforce the provisions of this Act shall be filed in the general district court or the circuit court of the county or city from which the public body has been elected or appointed and in which the denial of rights occurred. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(A). Suits against state agencies or standing committees of the General Assembly shall be filed in the general district court or circuit court of the residence of the aggrieved party or of the City of Richmond. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(A).

8. Judicial remedies available.

The primary remedies are a writ of mandamus or an injunction. The former compels compliance with the Act and the latter prohibits noncompliance.
9. Availability of court costs and attorneys’ fees.

Costs and fees will be awarded where the petitioner has substantially prevailed and where there are no special circumstances making the award unjust. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3713(D).

10. Fines.

If the Court finds that the violation was willfully and knowingly made, it will impose upon the member of the public body, in his individual capacity, a civil penalty not less than $250.00 and not more that $1,000.00. The penalty for the second violation shall not be less than $1,000.00 nor more than $2,500.00. Va. Code Ann. § 2.2-3714.

11. Other penalties.

None.

D. Appealing initial court decisions.

1. Appeal routes.

If the suit was first brought in General District Court it may be appealed to Circuit Court for a de novo hearing. Appeals from Circuit Court are to the Virginia Supreme Court.

2. Time limits for filing appeals.

Va. Code § 2.2-3700 et seq.

§ 2.2-3700. Short title; policy.

A. This chapter may be cited as “The Virginia Freedom of Information Act.”

B. By enacting this chapter, the General Assembly ensures the people of the Commonwealth ready access to public records in the custody of a public body or its officers and employees, and free entry to meetings of public bodies wherein the business of the people is being conducted. The affairs of government are not intended to be conducted in an atmosphere of secrecy since at all times the public is to be the beneficiary of any action taken at any level of government. Unless a public body or its officers or employees specifically elect to exercise an exemption provided by this chapter or any other statute, every meeting shall be open to the public and all public records shall be available for inspection and copying upon request. All public records and meetings shall be presumed open, unless an exemption is properly invoked.

The provisions of this chapter shall be liberally construed to promote an increased awareness by all persons of governmental activities and afford every opportunity to citizens to witness the operations of government. Any exemption from public access to records or meetings shall be narrowly construed and no record shall be withheld or meeting closed to the public unless specifically made exempt pursuant to this chapter or other specific provision of law. This chapter shall not be construed to discourage the free discussion by government officials or employees of public matters with the citizens of the Commonwealth.

All public bodies and their officers and employees shall make reasonable efforts to reach an agreement with a requester concerning the production of the records requested.

Any ordinance adopted by a local governing body that conflicts with the provisions of this chapter shall be void.

§ 2.2-3701. Definitions.

As used in this chapter, unless the context requires a different meaning:

“Closed meeting” means a meeting from which the public is excluded.

“Electronic communication” means any audio or combined audio and visual communication method.

“Emergency” means an unforeseen circumstance rendering the notice required by this chapter impossible or impracticable and which circumstance requires immediate action.

it “Meeting” or “meetings” means the meetings including work sessions, when sitting physically, or through telephonic or video equipment pursuant to § 2.2-3708 or 2.2-3708.1, as a body or entity, or as an informal assemblage of (i) as many as three members or (ii) a quorum, if less than three, of the constituent membership, wherever held, with or without minutes being taken, whether or not votes are cast, of any public body. The gathering of employees of a public body shall not be deemed a “meeting” subject to the provisions of this chapter.

“Open meeting” or “public meeting” means a meeting at which the public may be present.

“Public body” means any legislative body, authority, board, bureau, commission, district or agency of the Commonwealth or of any political subdivision of the Commonwealth, including cities, towns and counties, municipal councils, governing bodies of counties, school boards and planning commissions; boards of visitors of public institutions of higher education; and other organizations, corporations or agencies in the Commonwealth supported wholly or principally by public funds. It shall include (i) the Virginia Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Program and its board of directors established pursuant to Chapter 30 (§ 38.2-5000 et seq.) of Title 38.2 and (ii) any committee, subcommittee, or other entity however designated, of the public body created to perform delegated functions of the public body or to advise the public body. It shall not exclude any such committee, subcommittee or entity because it has private sector or citizen members. Corporations organized by the Virginia Retirement System are “public bodies” for purposes of this chapter.

For the purposes of the provisions of this chapter applicable to access to public records, constitutional officers shall be considered public bodies and, except as otherwise expressly provided by law, shall have the same obligations to disclose public records as other custodians of public records.

“Public records” means all writings and recordings that consist of letters, words or numbers, or their equivalent, set down by handwriting, typewriting, printing, photostatting, photography, magnetic impulse, optical or magneto-optical form, mechanical or electronic recording or other form of data compilation, however stored, and regardless of physical form or characteristics, prepared or owned by, or in the possession of a public body or its officers, employees or agents in the transaction of public business.

“Regional public body” means a unit of government organized as provided by law within defined boundaries, as determined by the General Assembly, whose members are appointed by the participating local governing bodies, and such unit includes two or more counties or cities.

“Scholastic records” means those records containing information directly related to a student or an applicant for admission and maintained by a public body that is an educational agency or institution or by a person acting for such agency or institution.

§ 2.2-3702. Notice of chapter.

Any person elected, reelected, appointed or reappointed to any body not excepted from this chapter shall (i) be furnished by the public body's administrator or legal counsel with a copy of this chapter within two weeks following election, reelection, appointment or reappointment and (ii) read and become familiar with the provisions of this chapter.

§ 2.2-3703. Public bodies and records to which chapter inapplicable; voter registration and election records; access by persons incarcerated in a state, local, or federal correctional facility.

A. The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to:

1. The Virginia Parole Board, except that (i) information from the Virginia Parole Board providing the number of inmates considered by such Board for discretionary parole, the number of inmates granted or denied parole, and the number of paroles returned to the custody of the Department of Corrections solely as a result of a determination by such Board of a violation of parole shall be open to inspection and available for release, on a monthly basis, as provided by § 2.2-3704 and (ii) all records concerning the finances of the Virginia Parole Board shall be public records and subject to the provisions of this chapter. The information required by clause (i) shall be furnished by offense, sex, race, age of the inmate, and the locality in which the conviction was obtained, upon the request of the party seeking the information;

2. Petit juries and grand juries;

3. Family assessment and planning teams established pursuant to § 2.2-5207;

4. The Virginia State Crime Commission; and

5. The records required by law to be maintained by the clerks of the courts of record, as defined in § 1-212, and courts not of record, as defined in § 16.1-69.5. However, other records maintained by the clerks of such courts shall be public records and subject to the provisions of this chapter.

B. Public access to voter registration and election records shall be governed by the provisions of Title 24.2 and this chapter. The provisions of Title 24.2 shall be controlling in the event of any conflict.

C. No provision of this chapter or Chapter 21 (§ 30-178 et seq.) of Title 30 shall be construed to afford any rights to any person (i) incarcerated in a state, local or federal correctional facility, whether or not such facility is (a) located in the Commonwealth or (b) operated pursuant to the Corrections Private Management Act (§ 53.1-261 et seq.) or (ii) civilly committed pursuant to the Sexually Violent Predators Act (§ 37.2-900 et seq.). However, this subsection shall not be construed to prevent such persons from exercising their constitutionally protected rights, including, but not limited to, their right to call for evidence in their favor in a criminal prosecution.

§ 2.2-3704. Public records to be open to inspection; procedure for requesting records and responding to request; charges; transfer of records for storage, etc.

A. Except as otherwise specifically provided by law, all public records shall be open to inspection and copying by any citizens of the Commonwealth during the regular office hours of the custodian of such records. Access to such records shall not be denied to citizens of the Commonwealth, representatives of newspapers and magazines with circulation in the Commonwealth, and representatives of radio and television stations broadcasting in or into the Commonwealth. The custodian may require the requester to provide his name and legal address. The custodian of such records shall take all necessary precautions for their preservation and safekeeping.

B. A request for public records shall identify the requested records with reasonableness. The request need not make reference to this chapter in order to invoke the provisions of this chapter or to impose the time limits for response by a public body. Any public body that is subject to this chapter and that is the custodian of the requested records shall promptly, but in all cases within five working days of receiving a request, provide the requested records to the requester or make one of the following responses in writing:

1. The requested records are being entirely withheld because their release is prohibited by law or the custodian has exercised his discretion to withhold the records in accordance with this chapter. Such response shall identify with reasonable particularity the volume and subject matter of withheld records, and cite, as to each category of withheld records, the specific Code section that authorizes the withholding of the records.

2. The requested records are being provided in part and are being withheld in part because the release of part of the records is prohibited by law or the custodian has exercised his discretion to withhold a portion of the records in accordance with this chapter. Such response shall identify with reasonable particularity the subject matter of withheld portions, and cite, as to each category of withheld records, the specific Code section that authorizes the withholding of the records. When a portion of a requested record is withheld, the public body shall delete or excise only that portion of the record to which an exemption applies and shall release the remainder of the record.

3. The requested records could not be found or do not exist. However, if the public body that received the request knows that another public body has the requested records, the response shall include contact information for the other public body.

4. It is not practically possible to provide the requested records or to determine whether they are available within the five-work-day period. Such response shall specify the conditions that make a response impossible. If the response is made within five working days, the public body shall have an additional seven work days in which to provide one of the four preceding responses.

C. Any public body may petition the appropriate court for additional time to respond to a request for records when the request is for an extraordinary volume of records or requires an extraordinarily lengthy search, and a response by the public body within the time required by this chapter will prevent the public body from meeting its operational responsibilities. Before proceeding with the petition, however, the public body shall make reasonable efforts to reach an agreement with the requester concerning the production of the records requested.

D. Subject to the provisions of subsection G, no public body shall be required to create a new record if the record does not already exist. However, a public body may abstract or summarize information under such terms and conditions as agreed between the requester and the public body.

E. Failure to respond to a request for records shall be deemed a denial of the request and shall constitute a violation of this chapter.

F. A public body may make reasonable charges not to exceed its actual cost incurred in accessing, duplicating, supplying, or searching for the requested records. No public body shall charge any extraneous, intermediary or surplus fees or expenses to recoup the general costs associated with creating or maintaining records or transacting the general business of the public body. Any duplicating fee charged by a public body shall not exceed the actual cost of duplication. The public body may also make a reasonable charge for the cost incurred in supplying records produced from a geographic information system at the request of anyone other than the owner of the land that is the subject of the request. However, such charges shall not exceed the actual cost to the public body in supplying such records, except that the public body may charge, on a pro rata per acre basis, for the cost of creating topographical maps developed by the public body, for such maps or portions thereof, which encompass a contiguous area greater than 50 acres. All charges for the supplying of requested records shall be estimated in advance at the request of the citizen.
G. Public records maintained by a public body in an electronic data processing system, computer database, or any other structured collection of data shall be made available to a requester at a reasonable cost, not to exceed the actual cost in accordance with subsection F. When electronic or other databases are combined or contain exempt and nonexempt records, the public body may provide access to the exempt records if not otherwise prohibited by law, but shall provide access to the nonexempt records as provided by this chapter.

Public bodies shall produce nonexempt records maintained in an electronic database in any tangible medium identified by the requester, including, where the public body has the capability, the option of posting the records on a website or delivering the records through an electronic mail address provided by the requester, that if medium is used by the public body in the regular course of business. No public body shall be required to produce records from an electronic database in a format not regularly used by the public body. However, the public body shall make reasonable efforts to provide records in any format under such terms and conditions as agreed between the requester and public body, including the payment of reasonable costs. The exclusion of exempt fields of information from a database or the conversion of data from one available format to another shall not be deemed the creation, preparation or compilation of a new public record.

H. In any case where a public body determines in advance that charges for producing the requested records are likely to exceed $200, the public body may, before continuing to process the request, require the requester to agree to pay a deposit not to exceed the amount of the advance determination. The deposit shall be credited toward the final cost of supplying the requested records. The period within which the public body shall respond under this section shall be tolled for the amount of time that elapses between notice of the advance determination and the response of the requester.

I. Before processing a request for records, a public body may require the requester to pay any amounts owed to the public body for previous requests for records that remain unpaid 30 days or more after billing.

J. In the event a public body has transferred possession of public records to any entity, including but not limited to any other public body, for storage, maintenance, or archiving, the public body initiating the transfer of such records shall remain the custodian of such records for purposes of responding to requests for public records made pursuant to this chapter and shall be responsible for returning and supplying such records to the requester. In the event a public body has transferred public records for storage, maintenance, or archiving and such transferring public body is no longer in existence, any public body that is a successor to the transferring public body shall be deemed the custodian of such records. In the event no successor entity exists, the entity in possession of the public records shall be deemed the custodian of the records for purposes of compliance with this chapter, and shall retrieve and supply such records to the requester.

§ 2.2-3704.1. Posting of notice of rights and responsibilities by state public bodies; assistance by the Freedom of Information Advisory Council.

A. All state public bodies created in the executive branch of state government and subject to the provisions of this chapter shall make available the following information to the public upon request and shall post such information on the Internet:

1. A plain English explanation of the rights of a requester under this chapter, the procedures to obtain public records from the public body, and the responsibilities of the public body in complying with this chapter. For purposes of this subdivision “plain English” means written in nontechnical, readily understandable language using words of common everyday usage and avoiding legal terms and phrases or other terms and words of art whose usage or special meaning primarily is limited to a particular field or profession;
2. Contact information for the person designated by the public body to (i) assist a requester in making a request for records or (ii) respond to requests for public records;
3. A general description, summary, list, or index of the types of public records maintained by such state public body;
4. A general description, summary, list, or index of any exemptions in law that permit or require such public records to be withheld from release; and
5. Any policy the public body has concerning the type of public records it routinely withholds from release as permitted by this chapter or other law.

B. The Freedom of Information Advisory Council, created pursuant to § 30-178, shall assist in the development and implementation of the provisions of subsection A, upon request.

§ 2.2-3705.1. Exclusions to application of chapter; exclusions of general application to public bodies.

The following records are excluded from the provisions of this chapter but may be disclosed by the custodian in his discretion, except where such disclosure is prohibited by law:

1. Personnel records containing information concerning identifiable individuals, except that access shall not be denied to the person who is the subject thereof; or to any person who is the subject of any personnel record and who is 18 years of age or older may waive, in writing, the protections afforded by this subdivision. If the protections are so waived, the public body shall open such records for inspection and copying.
2. Written advice of legal counsel to state, regional or local public bodies or the officers or employees of such public bodies, and any other records protected by the attorney-client privilege.
3. Legal memoranda and other work product compiled specifically for use in litigation or for use in an active administrative investigation concerning a matter that is properly the subject of a closed meeting under § 2.2-3711.
4. Any test or examination used, administered or prepared by any public body for purposes of evaluation of (i) any student or any student's performance, (ii) any employee or employment seeker’s qualifications or aptitude for employment, retention, or promotion, or (iii) qualifications for any license or certificate issued by a public body.

As used in this subdivision, “test or examination” shall include (a) any scoring key for any such test or examination and (b) any other document that would jeopardize the security of the test or examination. Nothing contained in this subdivision shall prohibit the release of test scores or results as provided by law, or limit access to individual records as provided by law. However, the subject of such employment tests shall be entitled to review and inspect all records relative to his performance on such employment tests.

When, in the reasonable opinion of such public body, any such test or examination no longer has any potential for future use, and the security of future tests or examinations will not be jeopardized, the test or examination shall be made available to the public. However, minimum competency tests administered to public school children shall be made available to the public contemporaneously with statewide release of the scores of those taking such tests, but in no event shall such tests be made available to the public later than six months after the administration of such tests.

5. Records recorded in or compiled exclusively for use in closed meetings lawfully held pursuant to § 2.2-3711. However, no record that is otherwise open to inspection under this chapter shall be deemed exempt by virtue of the fact that it has been reviewed or discussed in a closed meeting.

6. Vendor proprietary information software that may be in the official records of a public body. For the purpose of this subdivision, “vendor proprietary software” means computer programs acquired from a vendor for purposes of processing data for agencies or political subdivisions of the Commonwealth.

7. Computer software developed by or for a state agency, state-supported institution of higher education or political subdivision of the Commonwealth.

8. Appraisals and cost estimates of real property subject to a proposed purchase, sale or lease, prior to the completion of such purchase, sale or lease.

9. However, nothing in this subdivision shall prohibit the disclosure of information taken from inactive reports upon expiration of the period of limitations for the filing of a civil suit.

10. Personal information, as defined in § 2.2-3801, including electronic mail addresses, furnished to a public body for the purpose of receiving electronic mail from the public body, provided that the electronic mail recipient has requested that the public body not disclose such information. However, access shall not be denied to the person who is the subject of the record.

11. Communications and materials required to be kept confidential pursuant to § 2.2-4119 of the Virginia Administrative Dispute Resolution Act (§ 2.2-4115 et seq.).
12. Records relating to the negotiation and award of a specific contract where competition or bargaining is involved and where the release of such records would adversely affect the bargaining position or negotiating strategy of the public body. Such records shall not be withheld after the public body has made a decision to award or not to award the contract. In the case of procurement transactions conducted pursuant to the Virginia Public Procurement Act (§ 2.2-4100 et seq.), the provisions of this subdivision shall not apply, and any release of records relating to such transactions shall be governed by the Virginia Public Procurement Act.

13. Those portions of records that contain account numbers or routing information for any credit card, debit card, or other account with a financial institution of any person or public body. However, access shall not be denied to the person who is the subject of the record. For the purposes of this subdivision, “financial institution” means any organization authorized to do business under state or federal laws relating to financial institutions, including, without limitation, banks and trust companies, savings banks, savings and loan companies or associations, and credit unions.

§ 2.2-3705.2. Exclusions to application of chapter; records relating to public safety.

The following records are excluded from the provisions of this chapter but may be disclosed by the custodian in his discretion, except where such disclosure is prohibited by law:

1. Confidential records, including victim identity, provided to or obtained by staff in a rape crisis center or a program for battered spouses.

2. Those portions of engineering and construction drawings and plans submitted for the sole purpose of complying with the Building Code in obtaining a building permit that would identify specific trade secrets or other information, the disclosure of which would be harmful to the competitive position of the owner or lessee. However, such information shall be exempt only until the building is completed. Information relating to the safety or environmental soundness of any building shall not be exempt from disclosure.

Those portions of engineering and construction drawings and plans that reveal critical structural components, security equipment and systems, ventilation systems, fire protection equipment, mandatory building emergency equipment or systems, elevators, electrical systems, telecommunications equipment and systems, and other utility equipment and systems submitted for the purpose of complying with the Uniform Statewide Building Code (§ 36-97 et seq.) or the Statewide Fire Prevention Code (§ 27-94 et seq.), the disclosure of which would jeopardize the safety or security of any public or private commercial office, multifamily residential or retail building or its occupants in the event of terrorism or other threat to public safety, to the extent that the owner or lessee of such property, equipment or system in writing (i) invokes the protections of this paragraph; (ii) identifies the drawings, plans, or other materials to be protected; and (iii) states the reasons why protection is necessary.

Nothing in this subdivision shall prevent the disclosure of information relating to any building in connection with an inquiry into the performance of that building after it has been subjected to fire, explosion, natural disaster or other catastrophic event.

3. Documentation or other information that describes the design, function, operation or access control features of any security system, whether manual or automated, which is used to control access to or use of any automated data processing or telecommunications system.

4. The same categories of records of any governmental or nongovernmental person or entity submitted to a public body for the purpose of antiterrorism response planning may be withheld from disclosure if such person or entity in writing (a) invokes the protections of this subdivision, (b) identifies with specificity the records or portions thereof for which protection is sought, and (c) states with reasonable particularity why the protection of such records from public disclosure is necessary to meet the objective of anti-terrorism planning or protection. Such statement shall be a public record and shall be disclosed upon request. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to prohibit the disclosure of records relating to the structural or environmental soundness of any building, nor shall it prevent the disclosure of information relating to any building in connection with an inquiry into the performance of that building after it has been subjected to fire, explosion, natural disaster or other catastrophic event.

5. Information that would disclose the security aspects of a system safety program plan adopted pursuant to 49 C.F.R. Part 659 by the Commonwealth’s designated Rail Fixed Guideway Systems Safety Oversight agency; and information in the possession of such agency, the release of which would jeopardize the success of an ongoing investigation of a rail accident or other incident threatening railway safety.

6. Engineering and architectural drawings, operational, procedural, tactical planning or training manuals, or staff meeting minutes or other records, the disclosure of which would reveal surveillance techniques, personnel deployments, alarm or security systems or technologies, or operational and transportation plans or protocols, to the extent such disclosure would jeopardize the security of any governmental facility, building or structure or the safety of persons using such facility, building or structure.

7. Security plans and specific assessment components of school safety audits, as provided in § 22.1-279.8.

Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to prohibit the disclosure of records relating to the effectiveness of security plans after (i) any school building or property has been subjected to fire, explosion, natural disaster or other catastrophic event, or (ii) any person on school property has suffered or been threatened with any personal injury.

8. [Expired.]

9. Records of the Committee on Review Committee concerning the mental health assessment of an individual subject to commitment as a sexually violent predator under Chapter 9 (§ 37.2-900 et seq.) of Title 37.2; except that in no case shall records identifying the victims of a sexually violent predator be disclosed.

10. Subscriber data, which for the purposes of this subdivision, means the name, address, telephone number, and any other information identifying a subscriber of a telecommunications carrier, provided directly or indirectly by a telecommunications carrier to a public body that operates a 911 or E-911 emergency dispatch system or an emergency notification or reverse 911 system, if the data is in a form not made available by the telecommunications carrier to the public generally. Nothing in this subdivision shall prevent the release of subscriber data generated in connection with specific calls to a 911 emergency system, where the requester is seeking to obtain public records about the use of the system in response to a specific crime, emergency or other event as to which a citizen has initiated a 911 call.

11. Subscriber data, which for the purposes of this subdivision, means the name, address, telephone number, and any other information identifying a subscriber of a telecommunications carrier, collected by a local governing body in accordance with the Enhanced Public Safety Telephone Services Act (§ 56-484.12 et seq.), and other identifying information of a personal, medical, or financial nature provided to a local governing body by a subscriber of a telecommunications carrier to a public body that operates a 911 or E-911 emergency dispatch system or an emergency notification or reverse 911 system, if such records are not otherwise publicly available. Nothing in this subdivision shall prevent the release of subscriber data generated in connection with specific calls to a 911 emergency system, where the requester is seeking to obtain public records about the use of the system in response to a specific crime, emergency or other event as to which a citizen has initiated a 911 call.

12. Records of the Virginia Military Advisory Council, the Virginia National Defense Industrial Authority, or a local or regional military affairs organization appointed by a local governing body, to the extent such records (i) contain information relating to strategies under consideration or development by the Council, the Authority, or such organizations in connection with their work. In order to invoke the trade secret protection provided by clause (ii), the submitting entity shall, in writing and at the time of submission (a) invoke this exclusion, (b) identify with specificity the information for which such protection is sought, and (c) state the reason why such protection is necessary. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to authorize the withholding of all or part of any record, other than a trade secret that has been specifically identified as required by this subdivision, after the Department of Defense has issued a final, unappealable decision, or in the event of litigation, a court of competent jurisdiction has entered a final, unappealable order concerning the closure, realignment, or expansion of the military installation or tenant activities for which records are sought.

13. Documentation or other information as determined by the State Comptroller that describes the design, function, operation, or implementation of internal controls over the Commonwealth's financial processes and systems, and the assessment of risks and vulnerabilities of those controls, including the annual assessment of internal controls mandated by the State Comptroller, the disclosure of which would jeopardize the security of the Commonwealth’s financial assets. However, records relating to the investigation of and findings concerning the soundness of any fiscal process shall be disclosed in a form that does not compromise internal controls. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to prohibit the Auditor of Public Accounts or the Joint Legislative Audit and Review Commission from reporting internal control deficiencies discovered during the course of an audit.

14. Documentation or other information relating to the Statewide Agencies Radio System (STARS) or any other similar local or regional public safety communications system that (i) describes the design, function, programming, operation, or access control features of the overall system, components, structures, individual networks, and subsystems of the STARS or any other similar local or regional communications system or (ii) relates to radio frequencies assigned to or utilized by STARS or any other similar local or regional communications system, code plugs, circuit routing, addressing schemes, talk groups, fleet maps, encryption, programming maintained by or utilized by STARS or any other similar local or regional public safety communications system; those portions of engineering and construction drawings and plans that reveal critical structural components, interconnectivity, security equipment and systems, network monitoring, network operation center, master sites, ventilation system, fire protection equipment, mandatory building emergency equipment, electrical systems, and other utility equipment and systems related to STARS or any other similar local or regional public safety communications systems; special event plans, operational plans, storm plans, or other pre-arranged programming, the disclosure of which would reveal surveillance techniques, personnel deployments, alarm or security systems or technologies, or operational and transportation plans or protocols, to the extent such disclosure would jeopardize the security of any governmental facility, building, or structure or the safety of any person.

§ 2.2-3705.3. Exclusions to application of chapter; records relating to administrative investigations.

The following records are excluded from the provisions of this chapter but may be disclosed by the custodian in his discretion, except where such disclosure is prohibited by law:

1. Confidential records of all investigations of applications for licenses and permits, and of all licensees and permittees, made by or submitted to the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, the State Lottery Department, the Virginia Racing Commission, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, the Department of Criminal Justice Services, or adopted prior to July 1, 1987, in accordance with applicable law, relating to investigations and applications pursuant to Article 1.1:1 (§ 18.2-340.15 et seq.) of Chapter 8 of Title 18.2, or the Private Security Services Unit of the Department of Criminal Justice Services.

However, nothing in this section shall prohibit the disclosure of information taken from inactive reports in a form that does not reveal the identity of charging parties, persons supplying the information or other individuals involved in the investigation.

4. Records of active investigations being conducted by the Department of Medical Assistance Services pursuant to Chapter 10 (§ 32.1-323 et seq.) of Title 32.1.

5. Investigative notes and other correspondence and information furnished in confidence with respect to an investigation or conciliation process involving an alleged unlawful discriminatory practice under the Virginia Human Rights Act (§ 2.2-3900 et seq.) or under any local ordinance adopted in accordance with the authority specified in § 2.2-2638, or adopted pursuant to § 15.2-965, or adopted prior to July 1, 1987, in accordance with applicable law, relating to local human rights or human relations commissions. However, nothing in this section shall prohibit the disclosure of information taken from inactive reports in a form that does not reveal the identity of the parties involved or other persons supplying information.

6. Records of studies and investigations by the State Lottery Department of (i) lottery agents, (ii) lottery vendors, (iii) lottery crimes under §§ 8.1-4014 through 8.1-4018, (iv) defects in the law or regulations that cause abuses in the administration and operation of the lottery and any evasions of such provisions, or (v) the use of the lottery as a subterfuge for organized crime and illegal gambling where such official records have not been publicly released, published or copyrighted. All studies and investigations referred to under clauses (iii), (iv) and (v) shall be open to inspection and copying upon completion of the study or investigation.

7. Any local governing body, school board, or any authority, board, bureau, commission, district, or agency of local government may meet by electronic communication means without a quorum of the public body physically assembled at one location when the Governor has declared a state of emergency in accordance with § 44-146.17, provided (i) the catastrophic nature of the declared emergency makes it impracticable or unsafe to assemble a quorum in a single location and (ii) the purpose of the meeting is to address the emergency. The local public body convening a meeting in accordance with this subsection shall (a) give public notice using the best available method given the nature of the emergency, which notice shall be given contemporaneously with the notice provided members of the local public body conducting the meeting; (b) make arrangements for public access to such meeting; and (c) otherwise comply with the provisions of this section. The nature of the emergency and the fact that the meeting was held by electronic communication means shall be stated in the minutes.

A. A member of a public body may participate in a meeting governed by this chapter through electronic communication means from a remote location that is not open to the public only as follows and subject to the requirements of subsection B:

1. If, on the day of a meeting, a member of the public body holding the meeting notifies the chair of the public body that such member is unable to attend the meeting due to an emergency and identifies with specificity the nature of the emergency, and the public body holding the meeting (a) approves such member's participation by a majority vote of the members present and (b) records in its minutes the remote location from which the member participated.

Such participation by the member shall be limited each calendar year to two meetings or 25 percent of the meetings of the public body, whichever is fewer;

2. If a member of a public body notifies the chair of the public body that such member is unable to attend a meeting due to a temporary or permanent disability or other medical condition that prevents the member's physical attendance and the public body records this fact and the remote location from which the member participated in its minutes; or

3. If, on the day of a meeting, a member of a regional public body notifies the chair of the public body that such member's principal residence is more than 60 miles from the meeting location identified in the required notice for such meeting and the public body holding the meeting (a) approves such member's participation by a majority vote of the members present and (b) records in its minutes the remote location from which the member participated.

B. Participation by a member of a public body as authorized under subsection A shall be only under the following conditions:

§ 2.2-3710. Transaction of public business other than by votes at meetings prohibited.

A. Unless otherwise specifically provided by law, no vote of any kind of the membership, or any part thereof, of any public body shall be taken to authorize the transaction of any public business, other than a vote taken at a meeting conducted in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. No public body shall vote by secret or written ballot, and unless expressly provided by this chapter, no public body shall vote by telephone or other electronic communication means.

B. Notwithstanding the foregoing, nothing contained herein shall be construed to prohibit (i) separately contacting the membership, or any part thereof, of a public body for the purpose of ascertaining a member's position with respect to the transaction of public business, whether such contact is done in person, by telephone or by electronic communication, provided the contact is done on a basis that does not constitute a meeting as defined in this chapter or (ii) the House of Delegates or the Senate of Virginia from adopting rules relating to the casting of votes by members of standing committees. Nothing in this subsection shall operate to exclude any public record from the provisions of this chapter.

A. Public bodies may hold closed meetings only for the following purposes:

1. Discussion, consideration, or interviews of prospective candidates for employment; assignment, appointment, promotion, performance, demotion, salaries, disciplining, or resignation of specific public officers, appointees, or employees of any public body; and evaluation of performance of departments or schools of public institutions of higher education where such evaluation will necessarily involve discussion of the performance of specific individuals. Any teacher shall be permitted to be present during a closed meeting in which there is a discussion or consideration of a disciplinary matter that involves the teacher and some student and the student involved in the matter is present, provided the teacher makes a written request to be present to the presiding officer of the appropriate board.

2. Discussion or consideration of admission or disciplinary matters or any other matters that would involve the disclosure of information contained in a scholastic record concerning any student of any Virginia public institution of higher education or any state school system. However, any such student, legal counsel and, if the student is a minor, the student's parents or legal guardians shall be permitted to be present during the taking of testimony or presentation of evidence at a closed meeting, if such student, parents, or guardians so request in writing and such request is submitted to the presiding officer of the appropriate board.

The matters contained in such motion shall be set forth in detail in the minutes of the open meeting. B. The notice provisions of this chapter shall not apply to closed meetings of any public body held solely for the purpose of interviewing candidates for the position of chief administrative officer. Prior to any such closed meeting for the purpose of interviewing candidates, the public body shall announce in an open meeting that such closed meeting shall be held at a disclosed or undisclosed location within fifteen days thereafter.

C. The public body holding a closed meeting shall restrict its discussion during the closed meeting only to those matters specifically exempted from the provisions of this chapter and identified in the motion required by subsection A.

D. At the conclusion of any closed meeting, the public body holding such meeting shall immediately reconvene in an open meeting and shall take a roll call or other recorded vote to be included in the minutes of that body, certifying that to the best of each member's knowledge (i) only public business matters lawfully exempt from open meeting requirements under this chapter and (ii) only such public business matters as were identified in the motion by which the closed meeting was convened were heard, discussed or considered in the meeting by the public body. Any member of the public body who believes that there was a departure from the requirements of clauses (i) and (ii), shall so state prior to the vote, indicating the substance of the departure that, in his judgment, has taken place. The statement shall be recorded in the minutes of the public body.

E. The recorded vote and any statement made in connection therewith, shall upon proper authentication, constitute evidence in any proceeding brought to enforce the provisions of this chapter.
F. A public body may permit nonmembers to attend a closed meeting if such persons are deemed necessary or if their presence will reasonably aid the public body in its consideration of a topic that is a subject of the meeting.

G. Except as specifically authorized by law, in no event may any public body take action on matters discussed in any closed meeting, except at an open meeting for which notice was given as required by § 2.2-3707.

§ 2.2-3713. Proceedings for enforcement of chapter.

A. Any person, including the attorney for the Commonwealth acting in his official or individual capacity, denied the rights and privileges conferred by this chapter may proceed to enforce such rights and privileges by filing a petition for mandamus or injunction, supported by an affidavit showing good cause. Such petition may be brought in the name of the person notwithstanding that a request for public records was made by the person's attorney in his representative capacity. Venue for the petition shall be addressed as follows:

1. In a case involving a local public body, to the general district court or circuit court of the county or city from which the public body has been elected or appointed to serve and in which such rights and privileges were so denied; and

2. In a case involving a regional public body, to the general district court or circuit court of the county or city where the principal business office of such body is located; and

3. In a case involving a board, bureau, commission, authority, district, institution, or agency of the state government, including a public institution of higher education, or a standing or other committee of the General Assembly, to the general district court or the circuit court of the residence of the aggrieved party or of the City of Richmond.

B. In any action brought before a general district court, a corporate petitioner may appear through its officer, director or managing agent without the assistance of counsel, notwithstanding any provision of law or Rule of the Supreme Court of Virginia to the contrary.

C. Notwithstanding the provisions of § 8.01-644, the petition for mandamus or injunction shall be heard within seven days of the date when the same is made. However, any petition made outside of the regular terms of the circuit court of a county that is included in a judicial circuit with another county or counties, the hearing on the petition shall be given precedence on the docket of such court over all cases that are not otherwise given precedence by law.

D. The petition shall allege with reasonable specificity the circumstances of the denial of the rights and privileges conferred by this chapter. A single instance of denial of the rights and privileges conferred by this chapter shall be sufficient to invoke the remedies granted herein. If the court finds the denial to be in violation of the provisions of this chapter, the petitioner shall be entitled to recover reasonable costs, including costs and reasonable fees for expert witnesses, and attorneys' fees from the public body if the petitioner substantially prevails on the merits of the case, unless special circumstances would make an award unjust. In making this determination, a court may consider, among other things, the reliance of a public body on an opinion of the Attorney General or a decision of a court that substantially supports the public body's position.

E. In any action to enforce the provisions of this chapter, the public body shall bear the burden of proof to establish an exemption by a preponderance of the evidence. Any failure by a public body to follow the procedures established by this chapter shall be presumed to be a violation of this chapter.

F. Failure by any person to request and receive notice of the time and place of meetings as provided in § 2.2-3707 shall not preclude any person from enforcing his rights and privileges conferred by this chapter.

§ 2.2-3714. Violations and penalties.

For a second or subsequent violation, such civil penalty shall be not less than $1,000 nor more than $2,500.
