Independent Auditor's Report

To the Steering Committee
The Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press
Arlington, VA

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, (the "Committee") (a nonprofit organization), which comprise the statement of assets, liabilities, and fund balances – cash basis as of December 31, 2013, and the related statements of revenue, expenses, and change in fund balances – cash basis, and functional expenses – cash basis for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with the cash basis of accounting as described in Note B; this includes determining that the cash basis of accounting is an acceptable basis for the preparation of the financial statements in the circumstances. Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

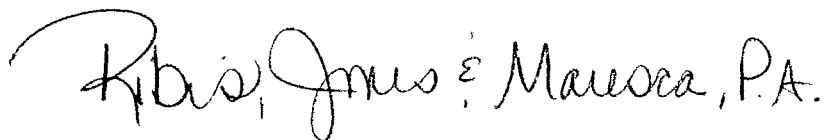

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the assets, liabilities, and fund balances of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press as of December 31, 2013, and its revenue, expenses, and change in fund balances for the year then ended in accordance with the cash basis of accounting principles as described in Note B.

Basis of Accounting

We draw attention to Note B of the financial statements, which describes the basis of accounting. The financial statements are prepared on the cash basis of accounting, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Our opinion is not modified with respect to that matter.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2013

NOTE A - NATURE OF THE ORGANIZATION

The Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press (the "Committee"), a voluntary unincorporated association, was formed in March 1970 to promote the First Amendment interest of a free press through research, dissemination of information, and assistance to members of the press in the conduct of litigation. Effective August 31, 1973, the Committee was granted tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code as a charitable, educational non-profit association.

The Committee provides the following services:

Legal Defense and Research - The Committee provides around-the-clock, pro bono services to all news media. It offers free legal assistance and research to journalists and attorneys, files amicus briefs, publishes numerous handbooks and materials, and speaks out against threats to the freedom of the press. The Committee undertakes legal defense and research projects in all areas of media law.

Publications - The Committee publishes a quarterly magazine, a weekly newsletter, and various guidebooks for gathering and disseminating the news. The Committee's internet website provides content on media law and journalism, which is updated on a daily basis.

Fellowship/Internship Programs - The Committee offers law fellowships for recent law school graduates and an internship program for journalism and law students each summer and during an academic semester.

Sunshine in Government Initiative - The Committee takes the lead in the administration of a coalition of media organizations and companies committed to promoting policies that ensure the government is accessible, accountable, and open.

NOTE B- SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Accounting

The Committee's accounts are maintained on a cash basis. The statement of revenue, expenses and changes in fund balances – cash basis – reflects only cash received and disbursed. Therefore, receivables, payables, accrued income, and expenses, which may be material in amount, are not reflected in the accompanying financial statements, which are not intended to present the financial position, results of operations or changes in financial position in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Receipts and disbursements resulting in a gain or loss from the sale of investments are reflected in the statement of revenue, expenses and change in fund balances – cash basis – net of their cost basis. Unrealized gains and losses in the fair value of investments are not recorded.

NOTE B- SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES - continued

Fund Balances Classifications

The fund balances are reported in two self-balancing funds as follows:

Unrestricted Fund Balances - includes unrestricted revenue and contributions received without donor-imposed restrictions. These fund balances are available for the operations of the Committee and include both internally designated and undesignated resources.

Restricted Fund Balances - includes revenue and contributions subject to donor-imposed stipulations that will be met by either actions of the Committee and/or the passage of time. When a restriction expires, restricted fund balances are reclassified to unrestricted fund balances and reported as funds released from restrictions.

Investments

Investments in government securities, corporate bonds, certificates of deposit, and marketable equity securities are reported at cost. Money market accounts that are professionally managed are classified with investments. Interest and dividends are recorded when received.

Contributions and Grants

Contributions and grants are recorded as revenue in the year the funds are received by the donor. Contributions and grants are unrestricted support only to the extent of actual expenses incurred in compliance with the donor-imposed restrictions and satisfaction of time restrictions. Restricted contributions and grants received in excess of expenses incurred are shown as restricted fund balances in the accompanying financial statements.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with the cash basis of accounting requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Functional Allocation of Expenses

The costs of providing the various programs and other activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the statement of revenue, expenses and change in fund balances – cash basis and the statement of functional expenses – cash basis. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among programs and support services benefited.

NOTE C - INCOME TAXES

The Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press is a 501(c)(3) organization that is exempt from Federal income taxes under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code Section 501(a), except for income unrelated to their exempt purpose.

The Committee recognizes the effect of income tax positions only if those positions are more likely than not of being sustained. The Committee does not believe its financial statements include any uncertain tax positions. No provision for income taxes is reflected in the accompanying financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013.

The Committee's income tax returns are subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) for a period of three years from the date they were filed, except under certain circumstances. The Form 990 tax returns for the years ending December 31, 2010 through 2012 are open for a tax examination by the IRS, although no request has been made as of the date of these financial statements.

NOTE D - FUND ACCOUNTING

In order to monitor the use of certain contributions and grants by the Steering Committee, the Committee maintains various funds to account for its transactions.

The Knight Endowment Fund (“Knight I”) was established in September 1999 upon receipt of the first installment of a $2.3 million grant. The grant consisted of an operating endowment of $2 million and $300,000 to be used for operating support. Distributions from the endowment are subject to annual limitations based on the fair value of the endowment fund assets.

In 2005, a second Knight Endowment Fund (“Knight II”) was established upon receipt of the first installment of a $2.5 million partial challenge grant. The grant consisted of a $1 million matching endowment challenge, a $1 million matching operating challenge, and $500,000 for operating costs to be paid over five years. The Knight Foundation matched dollar-for-dollar on the endowment and operating challenge portions of the grant up to $400,000 per year for the five-year period.

The amount transferred was calculated based on the average of 12 consecutive quarters.

The Committee also established the Jack Nelson Legal Fellowship Fund to support the expenses relating to maintaining a personnel position specifically designated for a recent law school graduate. Interest earned on monies held by the Jack Nelson Legal Fellowship Fund is available for current operations.
