Jay:

Thanks for your kind offer of help on the scheduling thing. I will not change the Governor's Office practice of only publishing the public schedule. It's the right practice and I don't want to make a major change of this kind in the last 6 months of my term.

I have told the press that I am glad to talk to them about what I am doing and my schedule whenever they ask me. I do 5-10 press availabilities a week where I take any questions and have never refused to answer an inquiry about my schedule or anything else. For some reason, that has not been sufficient. You know the challenges!

I hope you are doing well.
